Rules on pension payments from B division (personal pension savings)

1. Pension payments from B division can begin once the fund member has reached 60 years of age.
2. A fund member can, when drawing his/her pension, choose to have the assets in B division paid using either of or a mixture of both of the following repayment arrangements.
 - A. When a fund member has reached age 60 he/she can withdraw the savings from a personal pension account in a lump sum or spread this over whatever period is desired.
 - B. The member's balance on his/her personal pension savings will be transferred to A division, the mutual insurance division, which will pay this as a lifelong annuity with monthly payments. If a fund member selects this repayment option his/her personal right to the balance is cancelled, and any remaining balance will then not be inherited by his/her heirs.
3. A fund member who must cease work before reaching 60 years of age due to permanent disability is entitled to have his/her balance in B division paid in equal monthly payments over a period of at least 7 years. Derogations can be made from the above-mentioned withdrawal period if the balance on the account is less than ISK 500,000. This reference amount will change each year to reflect changes in the CPI from the base index of 173.5.
4. Upon the death of a fund member with a positive balance in his/her personal B division account, this balance will be paid to the member's heirs in accordance with the rules of the Inheritance Act on legal heirs.
